In foreign countries, I do not think the Secretaries of the government are called as Secretary and commissioner. I do not konw why they are disgnated like this in our State. The Commissioner of PWD inspects the Hemavathi project without having the background of technical knowledge. The Health Commissioner visits a Hospital in Mysore and the Revenue Secretary and Commissioner inspects the road work without the knowledge of work. These IAS officers have detracted the system of our society.

I would like to bring to the notice of this House that 47 houses were burn by a fire accident at Kasamballi village in Bangarpet village. I informed this incident to the Revenue Secretary and Commissioner over the trunk call at 9 P. M. This wonder Commissioner who professes to be honest and strict but without human feelings informs me 'how can I send any help or money' at this late our. He ought to have made arrangements for sending immediate relief to the victims of the fire. This speaks of his arrogance. He thinks that the government cannot take action against him. There are charges against the IAS officers but they are unable to investigate those charges. The Commissioner for Revenue is devoid of all human sympathies. I demand that he should be dismissed. For the Government work there is no day or night, they must work for all the 24 hours. If this Revenue Commissioner is unable to work, he must be sent back to his place forfeiting all the riches he has acquired during the tenure of his office. Generally these IAS officers do not mix with the people and they do not live in the midst of people. They think that they are a privileged class. Government should take some action against these officer.

With these few words, I conclude my speech.

MR. SPEAKER:—We will sit for half an hour more.

SRI K. BHASKAR NAIDU:—It is already one 'O' clock. We shall adjourn the house for the day. There are some members who want to go to there native places.

SRI B. BHASKAR SETTY:—It is already one 'O' clock, we shall adjourn now and meet the next working day.
